

Instrumented decompression of one vertebral column interval

The aim of surgical treatment is the stabilisation of the spine (with screws and metal rods).

In addition, the spinal canal is expanded at critical narrowings.