

Botulinum toxin therapy in case of motor disorders and spasticity

The treatment is performed under myographic or ultrasonic guidance, when the medication is injected into specific muscles or muscle groups.