

Bone density measurement

The osteoporosis office deals with the diagnosis and treatment of osteoporosis, i.e. thinning of the bones.

For diagnosis, a measurement of bone density is performed with a DEXA type densitometer. A referral from one's family physician or specialist physician is required for the appointment.