

Joint injection

The rheumatologist punctures the joint, extracts the inflammatory joint fluid (if present) and injects the medication (glucocorticoid, a derivative of hyaluronic acid).