

Treatment of viral warts and corns with liquid nitrogen (cryotherapy)

Cryotherapy is the removal of benign neoplasms of the skin using liquid nitrogen.

Liquid nitrogen freezes the water in skin cells, during the melting of which the bonds between cells break and a blister forms. With the healing of the blister, the formation will be removed.