

Diathermocoagulation for telangiectasia*

Removal of smaller enlarged capillaries, spider veins, i.e. telangiectasias using diathermocoagulation (an electrosurgical treatment method utilising alternating current for the removal of various skin lesions).